Foreword

We, the students of Juneau High School, present this annual pictorial and literary review of high school life to the students, the faculty, and the public.

To the students this annual will serve as a written memory of their high school life. To the graduating seniors it will mark a milestone in their progress through life.

To the faculty this annual will serve as a memorial of another year spent in the great work of teaching.

To the public it is hoped that this annual will serve as an insight into high school life, thought, and government.

MRS. MARY BURKE

Dedication

The occupation of janitress is not a colorful one, and it requires hours of hard work after the rest of the world has closed its business day.

For thirty-one years, Mrs. Mary Burke has given unbroken service to the Juneau Public Schools in this capacity.

Coming from Finland near the turn of the century, she settled in Juneau and in the fall of 1918 took the job of janitress for the new public school building, now the grade school, which then housed grades one to twelve inclusive.

Since 1918 she has worked every year in that building; during the war years, when help was hard to get, she did double duty.

In appreciation to one who has worked long and hard to keep our schools clean and healthful, we dedicate this TOTEM to Mrs. Mary Burke.

Student Council

The Student Council, consisting of the president, vice president and secretary-treasurer of the Student Body, the class presidents, the editors and business managers of the publications, and the student body advisor, plays an important part in both the social and educational life in Juneau High School. This organization is the governing body.

Meetings are called by the student body president when problems arise, and the Council decides the necessary action to be taken. Numerous educational movies and other social functions are put on by the Student Council and they also sponsor the Student Body Mixer, an annual affair. This group plans the school calendar and sets all dates for dances and other extra-curricular activities.

TO THE FORTYNINERS

If you ever climbed Mount Juneau or Roberts, you were rewarded with a grand view of the surrounding country. Beautiful snowcovered peaks in vast confusion towards the east, while towards the west you saw blue fjords with green islands scattered about. You beheld a scene not possible from the lowlands or even from the lower ridges. One could easily play with the idea of building a shelter and staying up there.

For the past twelve months you have been climbing what might be called an Intellectual Mountain. The ascent has been rough in places and some who started with you were left behind. They found it too rugged or too monotonous. But you graduates made the summit and now enjoy the satisfaction of having finished the climb. A little siesta is now being enjoyed while you look around.

From this vantage point you notice that there are other peaks higher than this one. This is not the summit as you had thought. Of course, you may stay here. It's better than the lowlands, but within you grows the desire to climb higher. What are all these heights that thus stir your ambition? We will name only a few in this short message. You may find more as your imagination leads you. College Hill is directly ahead with a well worn path leading to it. It is not difficult and has apparently been scaled by many. Some of you will decide to try it, too. Over in a different direction is Mount Proficiency; it looks pretty steep and you see no beaten path that will help you, but like the fortyniners of old some of your number will take off towards it. At a different angle is a towering peak shrouded in clouds so that you cannot see just how high it is. This is Mount Excel, and the moment you discern its towering crest through the clouds you say, "That's for us, even though it takes all we have to make it."

But now you behold something that you had not anticipated. It is a low valley between the ridges, filled with dirty snowslides, tangled alder, willow, and scrub cedar. One might become hopelessly entangled if not entirely lost in that maze. Even if you did get out you would be in no condition to go mountaineering. What is the name of this morass? Procrastination Hollow is its appropriate name. Many a bright student has been delayed there. A high salaried position (right out of high school), careless planning, or spending, or just plain laziness has drawn many into this morass. There should be a bright sign of warning here but there isn't. Each one must decide for himself what direction to take.

Achievement's reward depends upon you individually. The writer of proverbs said, "Where there is no vision the people perish." The taxpayers of this area as well as the staff and board of the Juneau Independent School District have done their part that you might have good vision. The future depends on you, and putting the proverbial language into the affirmative we get, "Where there is good vision the people live."

Sincerely,

JOSEPH O. RUDE, M. D.,
Chairman, Board of Education.

New Principal

After serving two years as athletic coach at Juneau High, Mr. Les Avrit assumed the office of principal during the 1948-49 school year.

Mr. Avrit graduated in 1931 from Oregon State College, with a bachelor of science degree.

He spent the years 1937-38 as a "teaching fellow" at the University of Washington. While there he completed his Master of Arts degree.

He also taught for six years at Klamath Falls, acting as the football and track coach. Following this, he spent two years teaching in Coos Bay, Oregon, and one year in Shelby, Montana.

Mr. Avrit spent four years in the air force during the war.

He came to Juneau in 1946 and began teaching here that fall. After teaching physical education and U. S. history, and acting as J-High's basketball coach, he took Mr. Harmon's place as principal of J-High during the 1948-49 school year.

EDWIN C. CLARK

SUPERINTENDENT'S MESSAGE

The spirit of a group develops from the things they do together. It is from the united effort to achieve that a school spirit develops. It is from the struggle, the sweat and the toil on projects for the good of all that we learn how to work together and the way to better things.

As your Superintendent, I feel that this year has been marked by the "pulling together" of the students and faculty. Juneau High spirit is a real thing, a driving force that gives us hope for even better times ahead.

This force, this spirit that is J-Hi's, is a thing not only needed in our school, but in our own town and in the world as a whole. Only through the ability to work together in honest endeavor can we hope to produce a better world.

To you who leave J-Hi this year, I would say, keep your spirit bright; remember the source from which it springs. It is yours to carry on.

PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

It has been a pleasure to work with you through this very successful school year. The seeable success we have enjoyed was evidenced by appearances of the Band, the Chorus, the Ski Club, the speech groups, the Yell Leaders and the Song Queens, the Tumblers, the Pep Club, a much improved J-Bird, and of course the basketball team's fine year. It is really a prediction but I have every confidence that this book, the "TOTEM", will be the best in its history.

The real reason for any school's existence is its academic achievements, and, in this, Juneau High really measures up to the best of them anywhere. However, in spite of the fine things about our school, we have a shortcoming that all students should become aware of and exert their efforts to improve the situation. Our horizons are too close. We are too satisfied within ourselves and our community and are loathe to accept new ideas and activities that would broaden our outlook on life.

So I say to you all, be ready and eager to learn of new things, to develop new skills, to seek new ideas, so that you can more readily adjust yourselves either to living outside or to becoming a more vital factor in your own community.

LESLIE B. AVRIT

SENIORS

Senior Class History

In September, 1945, 61 eager and wide-eyed frosh entered the halls of J-High to begin their long trek upward. Under the leadership of President Gus Adams the "forty-niners" had little trouble adjusting themselves to the realities of "higher education" and social functions.

On Friday, October 19, the annual frosh party was held in the grade school gym with bingo and other contests adding to the enlivenment of the evening. The Bathing Beach was the site of the yearly picnic in May. The class was then well on the way to making a permanent place for itself in the chronicles of J-High with many of its members in the various musical groups, ski clubs, GAA, and other organizations.

The beginning of the second high school year saw the affairs of the Sophomore Class placed in the capable hands of Clifford Cole, President. Since the class was dissatisfied with its colors of blue and white, they were changed to red and white by a unanimous decision.

On September 20, 1946, the sophomores provided refreshments for the Student Mixer. This event was given in place of the individual class parties held in former years.

The Junior Class in 1947 elected Alice Jean Davis to be their class prexy. One of the biggest social functions of the year, the Junior Prom, was held on April 2, and was a tremendous success. The Bathing Beach was again the site of the annual class picnic.

Their last year of high school being at hand, the "forty-niners" determined to make it a year they could remember with pride. With that resolution they sponsored the Senior Ball with the theme of "Winterland".

The seniors of '49 have left their impression on both J-High and its students. It will be hard to replace the vim and vigor they have showed in all activities in the past four years.

Last Will and Testament

We, the Forty-niners, doth here and now, with no witnesses present, (we hope), draw up our Last Will and Testament. As one first magnificent gesture, we, the class as a whole, do leave everything that doesn't belong to us behind; (that is except for pencils, paper, some library books, a few typewriters, and the most comfortable seventh period desks.) Now for our individual bestowances.

Read carefully.

I, Jerry Magorty, leave two more years of slavery to Carol and four to my little sister. (Heh, heh).

I, Mary Lou Fagerson, legally, and gladly, leave my masculine laugh, and bass voice to any incoming frosh whose voice hasn't changed.

I, Gus Adams, will my athletic prowess and lightning speed to Joe Ninnis. To Itch Hanson, I will my ability to gain weight.

I, Bill Carlson, leave my skis to who-so-ever finds the darned things.

I, Alice Jean Davis, do will my place in the Schmoo Quartet to another "music" lover, Sally McCrea. I also leave my little sister unprotected for 3 years hoping she'll have as much fun as I did.

I, Jackie Martin, being of no mind, sane or otherwise, leave my last sheet of paper to Dave Graves.

I, Harold Sonderland, leave my reserved seat at all the basketball games to Joe Ninnis with hopes that he won't use it much next year.

I, Bill Graves, leave Joanne. (But she needn't worry. I'll be back to get her.) To my brother, Dave, I leave my ability to miss the basket.

I, Martha Newbould, gladly leave my magnificent formations (marching that is) and commanding voice to the next gal who is Captain of the Pep Club drill team. My place on the Schmoo Quartet goes to Donna Olds.

I, Shirley Palmer, leave to my sister the books of knowledge hoping that she gets more out of them than I did.

I, Pat Oakes, leave J-High far less wiser than I entered. To the next senior treasurer I leave one battered adding machine and an empty aspirin bottle.

I, Jeannette Casperson, leave to my sister my great acting ability (?). To Sue McMullen, I leave my sweet girlish laugh. To Elsa Johnson, I leave my habit of keeping my locker always neat and clean.

I, Flossie Cather, (alias "The Yell") do leave my loud cheers for the Wrangell Town Team to Loretta Hibner, with hopes that she will use them well during the next Gold Medal Tournament.

I, Stanley Thompson, being of sound body and—well, anyway, I'm leaving to Ed Krause my ability to attain (by crafty means) "A's" in citizenship. To Jerry Wade, I leave my "luck" in a game of "21".

I, Jon Stewart, hereby leave this school peacefully and quietly but with a feverish brow. I leave my ability to hold my temper to any Frosh desiring an "A" in citizenship.

I, Shirley Elstead, being of sound mind and body, do hereby bequeath to

Last Will and Testament—(Continued)

Carol Jean MacDonald my place in the Schmoo Quartet and the Crew Cuts Clan hoping that she will do justice to them as I did.

I, J. Oscar Lee, open the gates of my walk to misogyny to Frank Maier, hoping that he does trip over somebody's skirt before he gets there.

I, Jan Stephenson, being of sound mind, (don't laugh), hereby will to Barb and Kathy, all the dates I didn't get with Coach Nickel. Good luck, kids.

I, Clifford Cole, leave to next year's editors, a block of ice to cool their tempers, a box of aspirin to fight their headaches, and a bottle of glue to make them stick to it.

I, Bill Forward, leave this school with anything that isn't fastened down. I, also, leave my size to Benny Haffner, as he'll be the one that needs it now.

I, Carol Karnes, will my "long legs" to Itch Hansen so that he can sink that one basket he missed this year.

I, Leo Osterman, just plain leave.

I, Ann Barlow, leave this school just about the same way I came in. To all incoming Frosh, I leave four years of school.

I, Loretta Keithahn, leave via the back door. To Roberta Messerschmidt (this I leave an unwilling heart) goes my position on the publications staff. To keep her in spirits, she may also have my place in the "Schmoo Quartet".

We, Carol Olson and Mae Manning, leave our faithful typewriters to Kathy Bavard and Lillie Allen in hopes that they will win lots of awards, but that they don't pass us up.

I, Mary Thibodeau, leave to a fellow athlete, Betty Mantyla, GAA, and hope she has as much fun as I did.

I, Margaret Atkinson, do hereby leave this institution for greener pastures I am told. To Terry Pegues, my former classmate, I leave all my absence excuses accumulated in the past four years.

I, Bill Johnson, leave my profitable dope sheet on basketball games to my little brother who will be in dire need of it.

I, Bob Leshner, leave, taking most of my "smooth talk" with me. I'll add the rest to Bill Sperling's collection.

I, Nat Moore, leave, never to return. To Bobby Rhodes, I will my black hair dye and Toni Kit.

I, Jeannette Doucette, run-down in mind and decrepit in body, do leave for a nice quiet place. When they let me out, I'll come back and see you all again.

I, Reggie Kleweno, leave my wonderful school record to John Ihle, knowing he will fix it up good.

I, Jack Hughes, leave my quiet but always joyous disposition to Carl Weidman. My ability to bring tears to the teachers' eyes when they give me a bad grade, I leave to my brother, Lloyd.

L, Sheila MacSpadden, do leave all my implements of torture to Alice Tanaka, the next Girls' Club President; they'll come in handy when she's enlisting "volunteer" aid for the 1950 Tolo.

I, Charles McClellan, leave my mellow voice and cool temper to the next Senior Class President.

I, Toby Dunlap, leave, taking my sparkling personality and witty jokes with me. My partnership on the Peques-Dunlap Song Writers' Inc. I do here and now disown.

I, Louise Miller, leave my secret of getting to Percy's between classes to Ginny Crawford.

Unable to find any more seniors, we do here and now close our Last Will and Testament, leaving you with this thought: "We hate to leave, but we would hate worse to stay."

Respectfully submitted,

ALICE JEAN DAVIS, Scribe.

Senior Class Prophecy

My, how time flies! It seems only yesterday that I was going to high school and yet it's been almost twenty years. I happened to meet Pat Oakes at a pottery club meeting last night, and if you don't think we had lots to talk about. It wasn't long before we were recalling the names of former classmates and wondering what happened to them.

It seems that Pat changed her mind about being an English teacher while in college and is now a diesel engine mechanic. She takes pottery lessons in her spare time. She told me that our old friend, Alice Jean Davis, still resides in Juneau where she successfully runs a home, family, Girl Scouts, the School Board, and gives advice to the lovelorn for a little extra cash.

Mary Thibodeau is now living in Petersburg. From what we can put together she has lived there since her graduation from high school, which was just one month after a trip down there with a debate team. Hmmm. But then, maybe it was just easier for her to get her "Fish every Friday".

Carol Olson is now a retired, former governor of Alaska. She began to get the ambition to be governor while writing a report on Alaska for Mr. Dean, Alaskan History teacher. Most of her time is spent with two of her old cronies, Marg Atkinson and Jeannette Casperson. They never married and now run a Lonely Hearts Club for the "Alaska Sportsmen". For sentimental reasons they try particularly hard to find mates for Signal Corpsmen and Coastguard boys.

I was awfully surprised to hear that Leo Osterman has the unusual job of modeling "T" shirts of Jantzen. Well, I guess it was inevitable; he always did look good in them. Another pleasant surprise was hearing that Jack Hughes has risen to the position of president of the Bell Hop Union. I gather he is quite radical in his ideas now.

A pretty pink hat perched on Pat's head had been holding my attention for sometime and I finally asked her about it. "Oh, I forgot," she exclaimed. "This is a Doug Haen original entitled 'Girls Who Do'." He's in partnership with "Lily Dache" now, you know.

A chance remark drew the conversation to Sheila MacSpadden, world famous woman skier. She is now living in a modest twenty-three room mansion with her trophies.

Someone began playing records, and I recognized the "Barlow Sisters" right off. Also in radio is Gus Adams, who makes his livelihood singing commercials for "Dentine Chewing Gum".

Of course I was pleased to hear about Florence Cather. She had been suffering from a heart ailment for many years but managed to recover by taking a trip to Petersburg.

Every town now has a "Klinky-Klanky" garage owned by Virgil Klinkhammer, who is now a mechanical tycoon.

The newest fad gives us all a laugh. Imagine! Our kids are simply eating up old Stan Kenton disks. Harold Sonderland has caused this new fad by smuggling in "How High the Moon" on a concert hour.

Carol Karnes and Jeannette Stephenson, who would never make up their minds which place they liked the most, are now manicurists on a steamer going from Southern California to Juneau.

Nat Moore has finally succeeded in reviving vaudeville after twenty years of attempt. "The trouble now is, I'm too old to enjoy it," is the grand old gent's complaint.

Probably the biggest disappointment to the graduates of '49 was Cliff Cole. Cliff was so terribly promising until he won the ice pool and refused to pay the income tax. When he returns to his normal life, though, I hear, he is going into the art of building radar equipped fishing boats.

It's a funny thing about Chuck McClellan too; everyone predicted such a nice, full future for him. Charley, however, now lives in Kotzebue and is tending reindeer herds.

Bill Forward is now combing the country around Pt. Barrow with a Geiger-counter. Stan Thompson is with him; he is after big game, a pastime he went into shortly after shooting in a Randolph Hearst Rifle Match.

"Jerry Magorty joined Arthur Murray last May," said Pat, "I took lessons from him when I was learning ballet. He has a new dance called "Firebug" which he invented when the matches in his pocket ignited while doing a samba.

Bill Johnson owns all the slot machines in Alaska. He acquired a peculiar liking for them the night of the Senior Ball way back in '49.

Now a celebrated author, Toby Dunlap has written a book entitled, "How to Be Witty, Winning, and Keep Friends."

"Now you mustn't tell a soul," whispered Pat, "but Bobby Leshner uses a Richard Hudnut." For shame! and he's been posing for Toni!

Lou Keithahn has, for the past 20 years, censored gossip columns in high school newspapers. She also writes a column of her own entitled "Out of Nebraska Snowdrifts", featuring life on an alfalfa farm.

Much to my surprise Bill Carlson's name was mentioned. He has been in Germany for the past eighteen years happily married to some little blonde. Bill always did go for blondes.

Another traveler mentioned was Jeannette Doucette who went to Marseille, France, after graduation and decided to stay. Jeannie has also written a book entitled "Eighteen Years With Dorothy and Ernest."

Mrs. Shirley Palmer now operates all the cabs in Juneau from her small kitchenette. "It's easier with the kids," she explains.

I guess Catalino Barril finally made it. Cat is now managing the managers of professional basketball. Really a job!

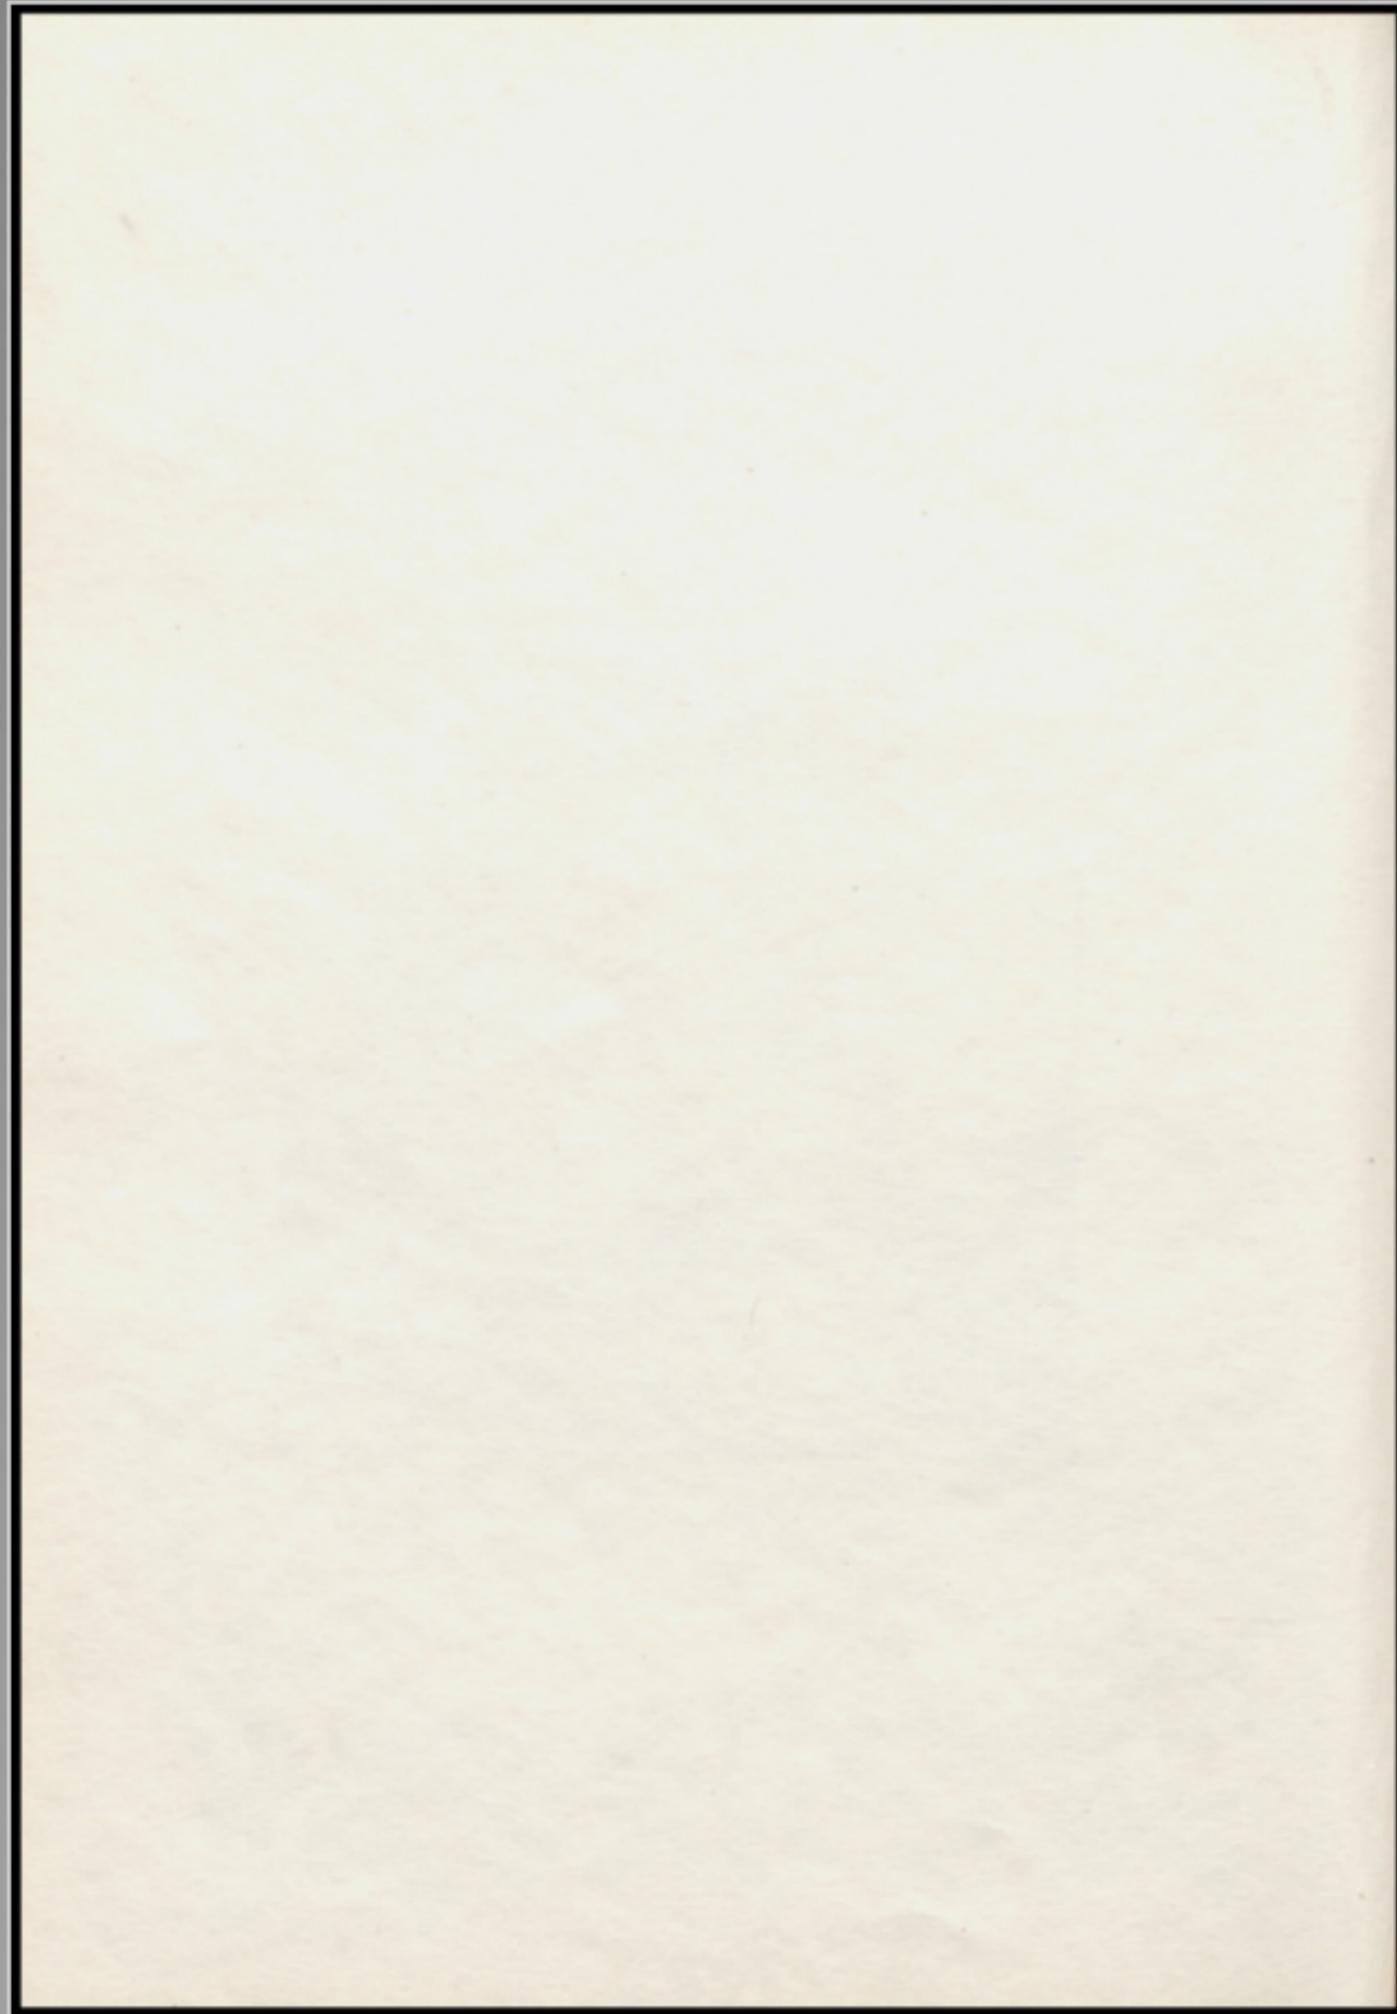

The last person mentioned before our pottery instructor said, "Mary Lou, will you please take your pots and get out!" was Louise Miller. Louise is still single but is thoroughly enjoying life. Dance all night and sleep all day, ah, what a time.

On our way home Pat and I began discussing world government, and tomorrow morning at seven-thirty she and I will begin our campaign for Dewey for president. Maybe you've heard, but I, Mary Lou Fagerson, am now instructor of debate classes at the University of Alaska, the largest University on the western sea coast.

CLASSES

Junior Class

Led by Bill Sperling, president; Katherine Bavard, vice-president; Roberta Messerschmidt, secretary; and Mary Lou Mix, treasurer; the junior class ranked high in school activities.

The juniors sponsored a hot dog sale and a matinee dance for the purpose of raising funds to help in the presentation of the Junior Prom. The climax of their school activities was a very unique Junior Prom. Miss Dean was class advisor for the year.

Sophomore Class

With their second year of high school facing them, the sophomores entered J-High ready to meet the problems confronting them and determined to excel in their coming school activities.

Those who were elected to lead the class of "51" were Carl Weidman, president; Donald MacKinnon, vice-president; Bill Mickle, secretary; and Rosemary Theile, treasurer.

Besides having many students active in extra-curricular activities the class sponsored a successful "St. Patrick's Day Feast" during the noon hour of March 17, and climaxed the year with the usual class picnic. Mrs. Amanda Cook was their advisor.

Freshman Class

The freshman class, which comprised the largest class in school, elected Joe Ninnis as president; Lee Nance, vice-president; Sylvia Lister, secretary and Benny Haffner, treasurer, to lead the class of "52" in their first year of high school. Mr. Stewart Washburn advised the class. Blue and white were chosen for their colors.

Varsity Basketball

The 1948-49 Crimson Bears, under the able guidance of new mentor, Dade Nickel, have left behind them a most enviable record. The Bears emerged triumphant in 24 encounters while dropping only 6. The players composing the first ten were Bill Graves, senior and captain, three year letterman; Gus Adams, senior, two year letterman; Harold Sonderland, senior, two year letterman; Jerry Magorty, senior, first year on squad; Bill Sperling, junior, two year letterman; Dick Hansen, junior, two year letterman; Rod Pegues, junior, first year on squad; Milt Schultz, junior, first year on squad; Bill Mickle, sophomore, first year on squad; Dave Graves, sophomore, two year letterman. Completing the varsity roster were Reggie Kleweno, and Chuck McClellan, seniors; Don MacKinnon, sophomore; Ralph Treffers and Joe Ninnis, freshmen.

The Bears played 17 non-interscholastic games, winning 13 and dropping 4. Losses were to Columbia Lumber and Mike's Night Owls in City League play, and to the Sitka ANB and the Metlakatla Vets in the Gold Medal Tourney. In City League, J-Hi romped over the Moose and ACS before losing one to the Columbia Lumbermen 36 to 33. The Bears then went across the Channel to meet the Douglas Hi Huskies. This game, in which Coach Dade Nickel used mostly second and third string players, counted in both city league and Southeastern Alaska Interscholastic basketball conference standings. Juneau's Crimson cagers took the Huskies easily. The Bears were inactive during the Christmas holidays.

After the Christmas holidays the Bears dropped one to Mike's and then went on to win the rest of their city-league games. The two earlier defeats, however, kept the Bears from the City-League Title. The Gold Medal Tourney saw the Bears start out strong, dumping the Kake Black Cats 53 to 27. The Mt. Edgecumbe Grads were the next quint to face the Crimson Cagers and were easily disposed of 49 to 28. The Bears were dropped into the loser's bracket by the Metlakatla Vets who held the Scarlets to 25 points while pouring through 30 of their own. Next J-Hi faced their old city-league rivals, the Columbia Lumbermen, and easily defeated the Green and Gold 51 to 32. In an afternoon game, the Bears met the Mt. Edgecumbe Grads for the second time and defeated the A.N.S. Cagers 35-33 in one of the closest games of the Tourney. Next came the toughest game in the Tourney as J-High met the Sitka A & B for an hour of quick thinking and brilliant workmanship only to lose by a 2-point margin, placing Sitka A & B in first position which she took advantage of by winning the tourney.

On the following evening the Crimson Bears' second string took the third place from Mt. Edgecumbe with a 35 to 30 victory.

In interscholastic play, the Bears have the best won-lost record in Alaska for the past season. The J-High hoopsters won 13 games and lost two. J-High started out the interscholastic casaba season against its old rival Douglas. The Huskies were an easy mark for the Scarlet and Black, losing by, in one game, 64 to 14. Next the Bears took on the traveling Sitka High School Timber Wolves and added two more games to their string of wins, defeating the Wolves by 42-21; 35-27.

The Crimson cagers then traveled up the Lynn Canal to meet the former Juneau coach Barney Anderson's Skagway High School Panthers in a two out of three game series that Juneau took two games straight. The SEA championship play-off started on March third and brought the Petersburg Vikings, winners of the three-way tie playoff in the southern division, to fight it out with the Bears for the right to represent the SEA conference in the All-Alaska games. Although handicapped by loss of first string center, Bill Mickle the first game, and first string guard, Milt Schultz both games, the Bears managed to squeeze past the Vikings 35-32 and 49-46, a slim margin of three points for both games. The All-Alaska championship series was played in Anchorage on March tenth, eleventh, and twelfth. Coach Dade Nickel and his champs left for the northern city on the eighth, and after two short drills met the AHS Eagles before a packed crowd in the Anchorage-Hi gymnasium.

The Bears were definitely "off" in the first two games, losing them by scores of 37 to 31, and 40 to 32. The third game showed an improved J-Hi team that romped all over the Eagles to the tune of 49 to 26. The first two defeats, however, had given the title to Anchorage. The team returned to Juneau on the thirteenth to end a successful season. Accomplishments during the season were: 2nd place in City League, 3rd in the Gold Medal Tourney, Northern division of SEA championship, SEA championship, 2nd place in All-Alaska.

Cheerleaders and Song Queens

Early in the fall of 1948 the annual election for cheerleaders and song queens was held.

Jeannette Stephenson, Kathy Bavard and Barbara Reid led the cheering through the basketball season; Sheila MacSpadden and Roberta Messerschmidt led the songs.

This group of girls planned the various pep assemblies throughout the year. At the annual Award Day program they were awarded large scarlet and black megaphones.

Pep Club

To back the Crimson Bears and to raise school spirit a girls' pep club was organized this year in J-High. Four seniors and three juniors were appointed as the initial committee to organize the club. Miss Emily Madsen was chosen as faculty advisor.

Membership for the club was based on citizenship, school spirit, and scholarship. The Crimson Cubs gave a luncheon for the visiting Sitka team and put on drill during the halves of basketball games throughout the season. Martha Newbould was captain of the drill team.

ACTIVITIES

Juneau High School Publications

1906 — 1949

Though the record is partially incomplete, the TOTEM staff has found the following facts about the history of your annual TOTEM.

The first TOTEM ever published appeared in the year 1906, forty-three years ago.

The early TOTEMS were far different in appearance and content from the present ones. They were small, paper bound books of various sizes that contained not only reviews of the school life during the year but also articles on the history, industry, and life in Alaska, and editorials treating with various subjects.

A striking contrast with the price of the present TOTEMS is the fact that the 1912 edition cost only twenty-five cents.

By 1916 the TOTEM began to take a little more interest in student activities, and the first student snapshot page appeared.

Of interest to sports fans is the fact that the sports divisions of the old TOTEMS placed almost equal emphasis on football, basketball, baseball, and track. Curiously enough, girls' basketball shared an eminence equal to or greater than boys' basketball, and for several years our girls' team held channel championships.

In the decade, 1930-1940 the TOTEMS show a transition from the smaller although they were still paper bound. Many of these TOTEMS had editorial, literary, society, and junior high divisions as well as the divisions containing information on the classes and various organizations of Juneau High School. In spite of these carry-overs from the earlier period, the TOTEM treated more and more with the various phases of school and school life as 1930 approached.

In 1923 the TOTEM mentions that the first edition of the J-Bird, our semi-monthly school paper, appeared on January 10, 1923, and was published on alternate Wednesdays for the rest of the year. The J-Bird was originally a six page, four column newspaper, and had an exchange list of over 100.

The 1927 TOTEM was an annual with a difference. It contained seven "books" which treated with the following subjects: health, command of fundamentals, home membership and vocation, citizenship and character, leisure time, graduates, and features. In 1928 the TOTEM followed the same general theme as the previous year's annual and portrayed the development of the student in the physical, mental, and social fields.

Beginning with 1929 the TOTEM shows a greater resemblance to the modern annual, being segregated into freshman, sophomore, junior, senior, and activity divisions. This TOTEM mentions the fact that the present high school was constructed the previous year.

In the decade, 1930-1940 the TOTEMS show a transition from the smaller paper covered booklets of previous years to the hardbacked TOTEMS now published. Many of these TOTEMS had effective themes such as an Indian theme in 1930, a circus theme in 1932, a pioneer edition in 1933, an Alaskan flower theme in 1935, a marine edition in 1936, a clever "fiasco" edition in 1937, a transportation theme in 1938, and a tourist theme in 1939.

The 1935 TOTEM won an All-American Honor Rating from the National Scholastic Press Association.

TOTEMS from 1941 to the present time have all had much the same content and, in the later TOTEMS especially, the theme has not been carried out so successfully because of the lack of finances for the art work necessary.

It is hoped that the publications staff will be able to finance these projects in time to come and produce a better TOTEM and J-Bird each year hereafter.

Band

The Juneau High School Band under the direction of Joseph Shofner has enjoyed an outstanding musical year, both in musical achievement and development.

At the beginning of the school year a new point system was instituted to award those students taking instrumental music for their work in the band. The points were classified as the following:

1. For seven hours practice per week, fifty points.
2. For five hours' practice per week, thirty-five points.
3. Lesson assignment per week, fifty points.
4. Solo or public recital, one hundred points.
5. Membership in chorus or other musical organization, two hundred points.
6. Stage manager for two weeks, one hundred points.
7. Student conductor in public, three hundred points.
8. First chair for three months, one hundred and fifty points.

Clyde Jensen, grade school band member, was appointed as recorder of the points. This is the first year that the point system has been in effect in the Juneau band system. Under this system letters previously awarded on the basis of attendance and membership only, will now be placed on the basis of merit and accomplishment.

Also at the beginning of the school year officers were elected for the purpose of conducting the affairs of the band and to consider the problems of the band. A constitution was framed by these officers as a basis for band functions and activities throughout the coming years. The officers elected by the band members were: Bill Sperling, president; Nat Moore, vice-president; Sue McMullen, secretary-treasurer; Virgil Kinkhammer, sergeant-at-arms. Appointed by Mr. Shofner were: Clair Dunlap, student conductor; Katherine Bavard and Carol Jean MacDonald, librarians; Clyde Jensen, recorder of points.

The band played at several service clubs around town during the school year. The first public appearance was for the Rotary Club, held early in the year. At this first performance the following numbers were played: "March of the Toys" by Victor Herbert; "Bells Across the Meadow" by Ketelby and "Bad Boy Boggle" by Bennett.

The Juneau High School Band presented their first concert of the year on December twenty-second in Douglas for the benefit of the Douglas schools. On the program there was a variety of music ranging from "Ave Maria" by Franz Schubert to "At the Gremlin Ball" by Charles Lee Hill, a modern composer. This was the first time during this school year that the public had a chance to see the band in concert form. A concert was given in Juneau the following night. One of the numbers that seemed to stand out from the others was the "Ave Maria" which was a vocal solo, by Irene McKinley with band accompaniment.

With the coming of the basketball season the band started practicing typical basketball songs, mainly marches. The band was exceedingly active with regard to pep assemblies and basketball games.

A concert was presented in Juneau on April 8 by the Sitka Band. In turn the Juneau High School Band presented a concert in Sitka early in May. While in Sitka the band also played at Mount Edgecumbe. The music played at Sitka ranged from "Deep South Rhapsody" and "Overture Eroica" to such swing numbers as "At the Gremlin Ball" and "Etude in Boogie". Some of the feature numbers were "Badinage of Brasse" and "Waggery for Woodwinds".

Purchased for the band this year were a marimba, an oboe, two snare drums and all types of music for the library.

Eighty-five students from both the high school and grade school participated in instrumental music this year. There were approximately fifty students in the intermediate and senior band, with about thirty-five in the beginners' band.

Music Groups

Under the direction of Miss Beatrice McNeely, the Juneau High School had three music groups this year: Girls' Glee Club, Boys' Glee Club and Mixed Chorus. Vocal music was scheduled during third and fourth periods as well as activity period. The singing groups started the year out presenting a short musical program with the band, on "Back to School Night". Selections were "Come to the Fair" by Mixed Chorus; "Tea for Two" by the Girls' Glee Club; "If You Were the Only Girl in the World," by the Boys' Glee Club.

The Christmas Concert, performed jointly with the band, featured several soloists. This concert was given, for the first time, for the Douglas High School. Chorus selections were: "Christmas Eve" with a solo by Janu McConnel; "In Bethlehem" with a solo by Lynn Bodding; "Ave Maria", solo by Irene McKinley accompanied by the band, and "White Christmas" with a solo by Leonard Matthews.

The biggest vocal music project this year was the Operetta, "HMS Pinafore," presented March 11. The operetta by Gilbert and Sullivan, took place on a large ship erected in the high school gymnasium by the shop boys.

Selections for Baccalaureate and Commencement were: "Lord's Prayer", "Prayer Perfect", "Green Cathedral", "When Day Is Done" and "Barcarolle" from "Tales of Hoffman".

Fifty-six students were active in the chorus groups during '48-'49. Accompanist was Ann Louise Henning.

Debate Club

At a two-date debate meet in Petersburg, April 1 and 2, the J-High debaters returned with highest combined point rating for the inter-school meet. The topic of debate was: Resolved: That the United Nations be revised into a Federal World Government.

Two teams from Ketchikan, two from Petersburg and three from Juneau participated in the tourney. The Ketchikan negative team placed first with 152 points; the Juneau affirmative team was runner-up with 148 points in the final debate.

Photo Club

The Juneau High Photo Club began activities early in October, 1948. Officers elected were Phoebe Logan, President; Dick Keithahn, Vice-President and Roberta Messerschmidt, Secretary-Treasurer.

The club's main activity was the printing and enlarging of negatives. Following the Christmas vacation the meetings were devoted entirely to darkroom work.

Librarians

This year librarians have had a busy time as usual keeping the books and card catalog in their proper order and checking out library books to students. The duty that they least enjoy is handing out overdue book slips and collecting fines.

Office Girls

The competency of the office girls of Mr. Clark's and Mr. Avrit's offices has been recognized by all the students. Their activities and responsibilities are many and varied.

In Mr. Avrit's office the girls have charge of the admit and tardy slips and attendance records, do typing, filing, and bring the daily bulletin around to the classes.

Mr. Clark's office girls do typing, filing, bookkeeping, mimeographing, and take care of supplies and the book room.

This year Mr. Clark and Mr. Avrit gave a luncheon in honor of the girls.

School Play

"Dear Ruth", a comedy in two acts, was presented by an all-school cast of Juneau High School on April 22 in the high school gymnasium.

A centered stage was used in which the seating for the audience was a stadium arrangement. The students entered and left the stage by means of side aisles. Throughout the play the gym was completely darkened except for flood lights which were focused on the performers.

Tryouts were held and the following cast was chosen:

Mrs. Edith Wilkins—Alice Jean Davis	Miriam Wilkins—Aleda Warner
Judge Harry Wilkins—Bob Croken.	Dora—Sylvia Davis
Ruth Wilkins—Shirley Elstead	Martha Seawright—Carol Shellenbarger
Lt. William Seawright—Don MacKinnon	Sgt. Chuck Vincent—Gerald Magorty
Albert Kummer—Walter Johnston	Harold Klobbermeyer—Gerald Shaw

Miriam had foolishly written a number of letters, sixty, to be exact, to a lieutenant in the armed forces; she had also enclosed a picture of her older sister Ruth and signed Ruth's name to the letters.

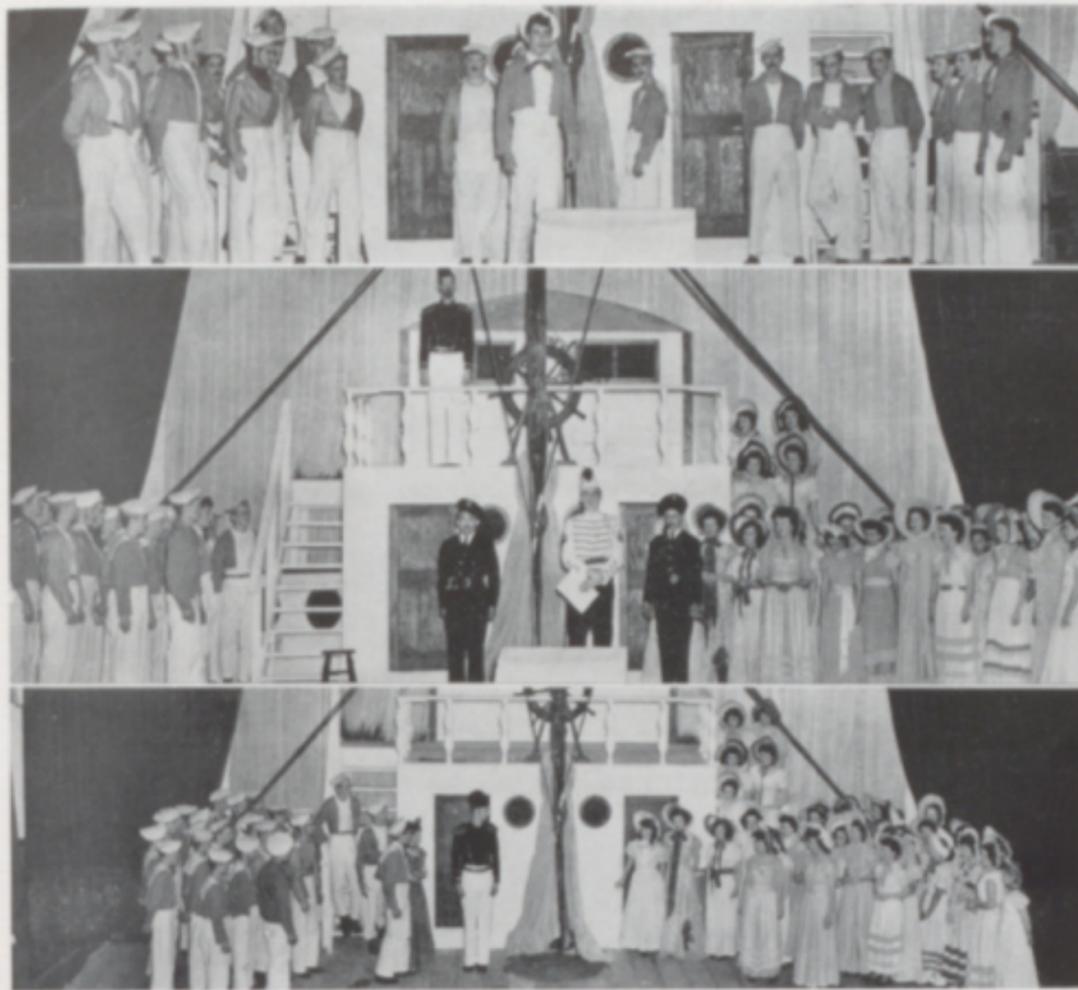

Bill returns to the United States from Italy and upon arriving immediately goes to the Wilkins' to see Ruth. Meanwhile Ruth has become engaged to Albert Kummer, a bank executive. Miriam confesses to the "dastardly crime" and havoc reigns in the Wilkins' residence.

Edith Wilkins and Judge Harry Wilkins are comical parents and throughout the play keep the audience in stitches.

Miss Helen Schaeffer, high school dramatics and English teacher, directed the play.

Operetta

Under the direction of Miss Beatrice McNeeley the operetta H.M.S. Pinafore, was presented to the public in the high school gymnasium on March 13. Participating in the operetta were the high school chorus, the boys' and girls' glee clubs, and prominent members of the eighth grade chorus.

Miss Janu McConnel starred the famous Gilbert and Sullivan operetta in the role of Buttercup. Her performance caused many to consider it a near professional role. Bob Croken, the captain of the Pinafore, and Nat Moore, a forlorn lover of the captain's beautiful daughter, Josephine, played by Donna Jewett, also made top-notch performances. Other leading parts were played by Dan Noyes as Sir Joseph, the lord of the high seas; Julian Rivers as Dick Deadeye, the ugliest and most feared of all sailors; Leonard Matthews as the captain's mate, and Sandra McCrea as Sir Joseph's ever faithful cousin.

H.M.S. Pinafore is a satire of the British navy and social conditions in the nineteenth century, carrying away its audience with a great deal of brilliance throughout the entire program. The chorus of sailors, aunts, sisters and cousins was made up of the chorus and glee club members.

The very realistic stage setting was erected by the boys in the shop classes under the direction of Mr. Henry Harmon.

Costumes for the affair were borrowed from the Sheldon Jackson High School which put on the same operetta a number of years ago.

Junior Prom

A flower-filled gymnasium styled after old Hawaii, was the scene of the annual Junior Prom held April 29. Flowers imported from Hawaii were used as decorations as well as very realistic palm trees.

Queen, Sheila MacSpadden, was attended by eight senior girls—Martha Newbould, Margaret Atkinson, Lou Keithahn, Shirley Elstead, Mae Manning, Jeannette Stephenson, Carol Karnes, and Alice Jean Davis—and crowned with a beautiful, hand-decorated sea shell crown.

Invitations were extended to Petersburg, Skagway, Sitka, Ketchikan, Anchorage and Douglas.

Senior Ball

The Senior Class of '49 chose for the theme of their ball, Winter Wonderland. Pronounced a great success, the decorations were especially commented on.

Along the walls were murals of glaciers and mountains which were hand-painted by the seniors themselves. White streamers, representing snow, cascaded down from the balcony to the floor. Banking the snow were ever-green boughs.

The orchestra was "protected" by a snow fort at one end of the dance floor. On either side of the fort were large Christmas trees, which lent a seasonal spirit to the dance.

The "sky" was done in white streamers and strips of white cloth. Over these were thrown stars whose silhouettes showed through.

Publications Hop

The publication staff of J-High presented its annual dance on October 22. The theme for this year's dance was "Story Book Land". The dance was well attended by students and their guests.

The gym was decorated in a story book fashion review carrying out the theme. The most outstanding feature of the decorations were the hand-painted pictures along the three sides of the gym.

The theme was even carried out in the entertainment. A modern version of "Little Red Riding Hood" was given by Nat Moore. Sue McMullen gave a boogie rendition on the piano and a trio sang "Mississippi Mud".

The main attraction of the dance, besides the dancing naturally, was a horoscope. Every student found his or her name linked with some incident in the future.

Tolo

"Candyland" was the theme of the traditional "gal takes guy" dance held by the Girls' Club. A "chocolate choo-choo" chugged its way across one end of the gym while the music drifted from a colorful Hansel and Gretel house at the other end. A panorama of sweets covered the side walls, and gaily decorated streamers dipped from the ceiling. Tall, striped candy canes were reared from the floor to the balcony.

Refreshments were "Ragged Ann's pink lemonade" served with home-made candy and cookies.

Entertainment was presented by Terry Pegues and Toby Dunlap singing their own composed song of "How to Win A's and Influence Teachers" sung to the tune of "When I Was a Lad". Sandra McCreca and Sylvia Davis gave their own version of "Tintashun", a barefoot version of "Temptation".

Mixer

The annual Student Mixer was attended by a large crowd on Friday night, September 24th. The music which was furnished by a juke box began promptly at 8:30 p. m.

The entertainment committee, headed by Alice Jean Davis, did an exceptional job. The program began at nine o'clock with a novelty dance. For the purpose of acquainting all students with one another, the girls were instructed to place one of their shoes in the center of the floor. The boys then scrambled to find the shoe of the girl with whom they wished to dance.

A trio consisting of Donna Olds, Roberta Messerschmidt, and Jerry Magorty made up the second part of the program by singing their own interpretation of "Sweet Sixteen." Bob Croken, Bill Graves, Denny Gallagher, and Terry Pegues then entertained the students with "My Happiness" and "The Sheik of Araby." Terry and Denny sang two duets as an encore.
