

ACTIVITIES TO DO WHEN YOU'RE SOCIAL DISTANCING

With a lot of public facilities closed, the City and Borough of Juneau has come up with some alternate ideas that exercise the body and mind.

Parks & Recreation's Photo Scavenger Hunts

Here's an idea that gives you and your family options to stay active, get fresh air, still maintain your distance from others, and have a little fun. Go to beta.juneau.org/parks-recreation and find the scavenger hunts for different areas around town. Take a walk and see if you can find everything on the list. Print out the document at home, use the one in this paper, or simply download the PDF to your device and check off the boxes as you go. Parks & Recreation will continue to add more photo scavenger hunts around Juneau. Don't forget to respect the distance of fellow scavenger hunters. For more information, call 586-5226 and follow @JuneauParksRec on Facebook for new social distancing activities.

Juneau Public Libraries Online Books and Resources

You may not be able to physically go to the library to check out a book, but you still have access to the Alaska Digital Library. To peruse thousands of ebooks and eaudiobooks for all ages, as well as a plethora of other online resources, go to beta.juneau.org/library and look under Resources. Popular online resources include tutor.com, the New York Times, and the video app Kanopy. You'll need a library card. If you don't have one, call 586-5249 with your name, mailing address, phone number, email address, driver's license number, and date of birth. Library staff will provide a library card number for accessing online resources.

Juneau-Douglas City Museum's Virtual Exhibits & Activities

Do an outdoor I Spy activity, learn about Tlingit canoes, or find totem poles around Juneau - these are a few of the downloadable education resources for students available through the Juneau-Douglas City Museum. Go to the webpage beta.juneau.org/museum and look under Education. Check out the Juneau-Douglas City Museum's Facebook page (@JuneauDouglasCityMuseum) to find alternative ways to view exhibits and experience learning about local history through online Facebook posts. Each week the museum will upload a virtual art and quilt exhibit, a virtual historic artifact exhibit, and a local history learning activity for students. For more information, call 586-3572.
